War in Africa is certain. The actual outbreak of hostilities between Italy and Ethiopia will shortly take place. Italian preparations continue with increasing rapidity. The Italian Dictator, Mussolini, has thus far met no serious obstacles from other nations. He says he will occupy Ethiopia regardless of what other countries may say and in the face of the League threats.

Prospects of what may follow war between Great Britain and Italy are somewhat alarming. England will not view with faor the establishment of a powerful Italian naval and military base east of the Suez, in a position to interfere with British trade to India and the Orient. When the British began to strengthen their forces in the Mediterranean the reply of the Italians was to concentrate submarines and airplanes opposite Malta. British prestige has thus been challenged by the unilateral act of Italy. It may not come immediately, but sooner or later the British will see to it that the World understands that the British Navy intends to predominate in the Mediterranean and over the Indian trade routes.

In the meantime, the world remembering 1914, peoples in all climes are asking the question, can the Nations secure peace? The people of Milam county, like millions of others throughout America, are intensely interested in peace. Undoubtedly they condemn Japanese aggression in China, and look with horror upon the approaching carnage in Ethiopia. World statesmanship begins too late and the means at hand are impotent. The problem reaches beyond Geneva and to the crowded places where millions live and toil.

Many groups in the United States are urging that something be done to prevent slaughter. The Woman's Christian Temperance Union recently heard an appeal from its president who found it strange the "Christian Surviving her are her husband, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Whatley of Cameon; two sisters, Miss Janie Ruth Whatley who teaches school at Austin; Mrs. H. C. Sherrod of Galveston, all of whom were with her at her death.

Cotton Crop Short Report Indicates

Milam County's cotton crop will be far below average this year, reports indicate. Ray O'Neill, special agent for the Department of Commerce has just made a survey to Sept 1.

There were 6132 bales of cotton ginned from the crop of 1935 to September 1 as compared to 23,383 bales ginned to same date for 1934. Cotton in many sections is later this year due to weather conditions in the spring.

Baptist Revival Brings Many to Hear Dossy

The Revival at the First Baptist Church has gotten well under way and large crowds are attending to hear Rev. C. Y. Dossey, state evangelist.

The people are enjoying the messages of this unusual speaker and preacher. Rev. Dossey has attained great success as a preacher and worker since his visit to Cameron five years ago.

The music is well organized under Ray Duckworth and the pastor, Rev. N. D. Timmerman, was well pleased with the response thus far obtained from all departments of the church and the public.

"All are heartily welcomed to these services," said Mr. Timmerman, "and our desire is to help all who come. Bring your friends and remember the time 9:30 a. m. and 7:45 p. m.

LOUD SPEAKER WOULD AID FANS AT GAMES

A system of micraphones with a central loud speaker near the press box of the proposed new stands for the Yoemen field, will be used for the convenience and entertainment of patrons at the games in the coming season, if plans now afoot mature.

According to plans the equipment would be used to call plays and keep the fans informed by giving the name of the player and the play together with the yardage gained or lost and all other details necessary to the layman's enjoyment of the great American sport.

There is not certainty that seats would be erected this year as planned in the government project, but some plan will be found to make the field comfortable and the loud speaker will add much to the enjoyment of the game.

CITY PLEDGES FUND FOR FAIR OCT. 10-12

The finance committee for the Fair Association reported Wednesday that the goal would be reached this week.

More than half of the money necessary for the fair had been raised up to Tuesday night, Albert Collins reported.

Secretary Paden was in Waco this week to close contracts for the tents to house the exhibits.

The Fair will be notable for its versatile showing of farm products and other interesting exhibits. E. D. Parnell, chairman of Association, said that all indications point to a successful Fair October 10, 11 and 12. The Fair is to be held in the Wilson-Ledbetter Park.

New Mallory Hats Arrive at Bradbury Store In Cameron

Good news for well dressed men is in the announcement this week by the C. W. Bradbury Store in Cameron that the Mallory Hats for fall and winter are here.

Mr. Bradbury has just received his new annual fall shipment of Mallory hats. Featured in this line is the entirely new one called the Tyrolean. Mr. Bradbury is not overlooking anything in the way of providing the latest thing for patrons of his store.

Mallory has been making hats since 1823. The Bradbury store features only the best of nationally advertised brands of merchandise. The new hats are here in all the new shades and brims. Straw hat days are over. September 23 is officially the first day of autumn.

COUNCIL PUTS END TO POWER VENTURE

The City Government Tuesday night voted to withdraw its application for federal funds to build a municipal light and water plant in Cameron.

The vote was 3 to 1 for cancellation of the application. One alderman, Joe Bass, was not present. Bob Terry placed a motion before the meeting and Sam McDermott' gave the second. They were joined by Leland Green in voting to cancel the entire utility plan.

August Horstmann voted against cancellation, but was willing to concede the city should not undertake a power system. He wants the city to own its water utilities.

Mayor Smith was plainly displeased with the action of the council and told his members as much. He said the council had conened at the request some weeks ago and voted unanimously to make the application

A. C. Woodruff, local manager for the Texas Power & Light Company, and J. C. Young, former manager for the power Company here, asked the government to withdraw the application insofar as it applied to the power system. The water company was not represented.

Opinion generally was that no such program should be entered into by the city. Many citizens expressed the hope the matter would not be brought up again. It has been presented periodically for 8 years. The city does not not need these utilities, it was advanced, and no attenpt should be made further. The council was expected to receive commendation from the people for its settlement of the matter.

Elaborate Parade To Feature Fair

The officials of the Milam County Fair Associatin are looking forward to a large representation of the business of the County in the parade the opening day October 10.

The parade is often indictative of the fair as a whole and creates much public interest, as well as offering advertising opportunity to the various business concerns and organizations.

The goal of the parade committee is to have every business organization of Cameron and as far as possible every business organization of the county outside of Cameron enter the parade.

Some will find it possible to enter more expensive displays while others must content themselves with a less expensive entry. To those who must enter the less expensive displays, the parade committee extends the assurance that your entry will be just as welcome and as much appreciated as the ones of greater expense. If the business concern feel that it can enter nothing but the family car with appropriate banners announcing the firm's business, such an entry will be most acceptable.

The Fair officials have made arrangements for free decoration of the streets and in return for this considration, they have extended this party the privilege of soliciting the decoration of business houses and parade entries. If you do not feel that you have time to do justice to the entry you wish to make for the parade,

The Stewart store has been a big factor in keeping Cameron ahead in merchandising.

Charles Brady, president of the Lions Club, told the Herald Tuesday that the club had voted at its Tuesday luncheon meeting to hold a minstrel fo rthe benefit of the band.

The Lions have bee nco-operating in every way to give the city a better band and this minstrel, the first to be held in the city in many months, will bring financial support to the band. The date is to be announced soon.

YOEMEN TO INVADE MARLIN FRIDAY

MAROON TIDE ON EDGE FOR FIRST 1935 GAME

Coach Wood's Yoemen, under heavy training duties for some time, were anxious for the whistle that will set the Maroon Machine in motion against Marlin Friday night.

The Coach was not pointing to this game, but it is no secret that the Yoemen will overlook no opportunity to score a victory.

The team will be handicapped. Captain Clinton Breeding will not be able to start at quarter due to a wrenched knee. Woodrow Crawford, first string end, was out with an attack of appendicitis while Shirley McLean the regular other end, suffering from a badly sprained wrist.

The team was greatly strengthened with the return of J. B. Gilbert, 200 pound tackle. He played in 1933 under Coach Hayne but has been away for more than a year.

In the backfield the punting was due to fall to Joe McLean, and Simmie Smith, a star from last year, is back and looking great for the season.

Earl Peck and John Davis were expected to get a real go at the game Friday night. Billy Triggs, tackle from 1934 will be on the line and those other stellar lettermen from 1934 Champions, Jimmie Stanislaw and Frank Ermis, were giving Coach Wood great hopes for something like a first class line and improving the prospects for both defense and offensive game.

Cameron's band under Francis Cox will play at the game Friday night. Fans in great numbers were due to make the trip and see the Yoemen open the 1935 season.

Furniture Bargains In Special Offers At Coleman's

Furniture buyers will welcome the news announced this week at the Coleman Furniture Company offering livingroom values. A special buy of a number of suites is being placed at the disposal of frugal buyers at great savings.

The Coleman store has a large stock and this fall is making it possible for all to buy. The values offered this week are certain to compel the attention of those in need of this type of furniture.

FOOTBALL TICKETS GO ON SALE WEDNESDAY

Sale of season football tickets for 1934 under direction of the Athletic Council inaugurated the annual support campaign for Yoemen Wednesday.

S. A. Cottle, president of the council, said that the sale of season tickets would be the only appeal to be made this year for funds in support of football. Citizens are to understand from this that the purchase of a season ticket will be the only cooperation asked this year.

Finances of the council are on a much better basis. There will be no collections this fall. Every citizen should buy a season ticket. They are to be sold covering five conference games in Cameron, but do not cover the Rockdale game by agreement. No passes are to be honored for this game.

Last year a number of individuals gave sweaters to Yoemen. This may be privileged again this year. For the present the duty of the average citizn is to buy a season pass and support the Yoemen.

Former Cameron People Escape Fire Death In Santone

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. L. Schaeg and their daughter, Mrs. Eunice Wells narrowly escaped death Monday in San Antonio when their home burned.

When they discovered the blaze escape was blocked by a burning stairway. They quickly tied sheets together and let themselves down to safety and escaped death.

Mr. and Mrs. Schaeg are former residents of Cameron. Their daughter lives in Houston. Mr. Schaeg organized the Cameron Mutual Insurance Association here in 1922. Eight years ago he sold his business and moved to San Antonio.

Rev. Love Returns For Service Sunday

The Herald is in receipt of a card from Rev. J. P. Love of All Saints Episcopal Church, now in Louisville, Kentucky on a vacation trip.

Rev. Love will be in his pulpit Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Friends will be glad to know Mr. and Mrs. Love are returning for the fall and winter.

Probable Starting Lineup for the Marlin Game.

IN THE LINE:

Center	Frank Perrin
Guard	Jimmie Stanislaw
Guard	Gerald Mode
Guard	Frank Ermis
Tackle	Billie Triggs
Tackle	J. B. Gilbert
Tackle	Luther Poole
End	Frank Richter
End	Woodrow Crawford
End	Shirley McLean
End	Paul Stach

IN THE BACKFIELD

Captain Clinton Breeding	Quarterback
Simmie Smith	Back
John Davis	Back
Earl Peck	Back
James Stewart	Back
Joe McLean	Back

An injured knee may keep Breeding from opening the game at quarter for his first battle as Captain of the 1935 Yoemen. Coach Wood did not believe he could start the hold over flash from last year. Crawford, regular end, has appendicitis and will not be ready to start. Shirley McLean has a twisted wrist and it looked as though the first string ends might not be able to start.

Night baseball. We are still wondering just how far it will go in the big show. Arguments for and against the noctunal show have dominated the sideline interest of baseball this season, but so far we have seen no definite steps taken other than the trial games at Cincinnati. The Reds of course are all for the arc light battles, at least the front office of the Cincinnati club. Attendance at the night games there this season for several games have averaged something like 20,000 per game. With the financial connections of the club losing heavily for the past several seasons anything that will draw an occasional near capacity crowd is more than welcome. There should be no kick from the Ohio representatives of the senior loop.

It is understood that the Cardinals in the National also would favor lights on the home grounds. The Gas House Gang comprises a group of player of the type that would be willing to co-operate in cashing in on a novelty, and St. Looey should swing over with little trouble if the other clubs vote in favor of the night games. Marse Bill Terry, of the Giants, is definitely and positively against it and says he will do everything in his power to see that the Clan doesn't have to participate in any night games next season anywhere. Other clubs in the loop are more non-committal, but it is thought that the braves, realizing the boon in attendance at Cincy this year, wounld readily agree to any league plan throughout the circuit.

Over in the American League, Uncle Clark Griffith, owner of the Washington Senators, and member of the league board of directors has made some plain statements for the game, and both he and Bucky Harris, if Bucky is there next season plan to do what they can to give the thing a try in the National Capital. Of course there are those who believe that the the Griffs are trying out the thing as a novelty—not because of financial condition. Most fans think that Griff still has plenty of that $250,000 paid him for Joe Cronin. However, since coming down to Washington (where we happen to be making our headquarters just at this time), we have heard from authoritive sources that there is none of that dough left. It seems that much of it went to make up financial deficits in connection with the Griff organizations both in Washington and Chattanooga, where the chief farm is located, both teams having lost money in the 1934 season. Then it is known that Buck Newsom cost Griff $40,000. More went in the Bump Hadley deal and other greenbacks have gone in intensive scouting trips made by Zinn Beck and Joe Engel.

Though Griffith is the only American League magnate to be outspoken in regard to the situation, it is felt that St. Louis, where the Browns are kept from heavy financial embarassment only because of rental collections made from the Cardinals who use the same park, night baseball would go over with a bang. It would perhaps do a lot to stir up interest in the Browns again, and maybe inspire Trader Hornsby's lads to greater heights. Another sign to add to the pro side of the question is the unfailing popularity of softball in St. Louis, where of course the most games are played at night. This may be the answer to the question of why some of the would-be patrons are kept away from Sportman's Park. In other words, office hours would not interfere with night baseball.

Then up in Philadelphia where finances have been in a sad plight for quite some time, the situation is very much the same. It is rumored that in a week or two after the world series Jimmie Foxx's sale will be announced. If this comes to pass, it will be a sure sign of the financial conditions in Quaker town for there is no more valuable year in and year out players in the majors than Foxx. Anyway the A's can be counted upon to agree to night baseball, should the question reach them.

On the other hand there is the adverse side of the question. Here among the Senators we find several who have quite outspoken ideas as to the advantages and otherwise in night ball. Griffith himself says that he doesn't know about other clubs but that there is one advantage that would be a big boost to the Browns and Nats, and that is that in these towns night games would be major nocturnal attractions, whereas in other cities, where there are nationally known night clubs, frequent wrestling and boxing shows, etc., there would be much competition in night attractions. Buck Newsom and Earl Whitehill declare that pitching records would be greatly helped, inasmuch as only the top half of the ball is visible under the lights when a speed tosser is on the hill and therefore a ball kept low and fast would give the batter an added worry.

Alan Strange who played night ball out on the coast where the after-dark games predominated, says that in many places the game is hampered by heavy dew, which necessitates a new ball being thrown out every time a ball is hit on the ground in the grass, and by fog. St. Louis and Washington are bothered little with either. Bucky Harris says that from the fan's viewpoint the game seems to be much faster. The ball seems to travel more quickly because the eyes of those in the grandstand, according to Harris, have difficulty in following the pill's flight.

Cecil Travis, who played night ball in the Southern, has this to say: "I can't see where the hitters are terribly handicapped. As a matter of fact, drawls Cecil, "I hit better at night than in the day time it seemed. The fault I found with it in the Southern Association was that some parks, Memphis for instance, the lighting system was bad. You hardly could see the outfielders. Then again the night air cools you off between innings and makes it tough. As far as lighting is concerned, though, it would be more elaborate in the big leagues.

In the light of the slim crowds in Washington and St. Louis, not forgetting Philadelphia, Griffith will hardly be blamed for trying to put across the idea at the winter meeting. It may be, as Griff says, the second division club's salvation.

Some rookies up at Chattanooga and other places look pretty good here, and rumor has it that only Meyer Bluege, Travis, Powell and Linke of this year's regulars have much of a chance to save themselves from being traded before next season. There are also some good looking rooks due to report to Chattanooga next year in line with the young blood policy of Griff, which leaves little room for any old-timers, other than Bluege and Meyer, who will probably each stick with the Nats in some capacity long after their playing days are over. With all the youngsters around now the place looks like a nursery.

Football is just around the corner, and the usual predictions are coming up everywhere. Anyway, one thing was settled last month, at least for another year. The pro football stars the Chicago Bears, licked the College All-Star team in spite of Bill Shepherd, et al. So until next year the fans claiming that the rah-rah lads present better football will have to take a back seat. In college football this year Alabama will hardly retain its top ranking. There are too many good elevens of last year that'll lose little or no men. Alabama must go along with out Howell, Sutson Lee and other members of that great team that whipped Stanford so decisively the first day of the year.

Miss Mildred Pressley Becomes Bride of Carl M. Smith In Presbyterian Churh Ceremony

Miss Mildred Loevain Pressley was married to Carl M. Smith of Austin at the First Presbyterian church Saturday, September 14th at 8 o'clock in an impressive ceremony, with Rev. O. C. Acrey, pastor, reading the ritual of the church.

Church Decorations

The church was attractively decorated with palms, ferns and white carnations, in vases and baskets; white candelebra with white burning tapers shed a pretty mellow glow over the altar and chancel.

Wedding Music

Miss Catherine Mode, wearing a gown of blue embroidered crepe with corsage of white carnations, presided at the organ and gave the wedding music, using Lohengrin's wedding march for the processional. Miss Billie Moore, attired in a pink lace dress with white carnations, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Miss Mode.

Bridal Attendants

Misses Dorothy and Evelyn Pressley, sisters of the bride, were bridesmaids and wore emerald green crepe dresses made in long close fitting lines, ankle length, and long sleeves with green velvet turbans and carried large white astors. Pauline, the little sister of the bride, was flower girl, and was dainty and sweet in yellow taffeta, and carried sprays of white carnations. Dean White and Wayne Porter of Austin, were ushers and were dressed in conventional black suits with white boutonaires, and ushered guests to their seats. Best man was Lester Palmer of Austin, and attended the bridegroom to the altar.

Entrance of Bride

The bride came in on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She was beautiful in white bridal satin, cut along simple lines with train and long sleeves, and wore a long tulle veil, and carried Easter lillies. For something old she wore a gold cross belonging to Mrs. Henry Strickler, Jr. of Waco, a friend. The bride is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Pressley of Cameron. After graduating from Cameron school she attended State University and was popular with a large circle of friends and school mates.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Smith of Austin, and is a graduate of State University and is employed by the Calcasieu Lumber Company in Austin and is a splendid young business man.

Wedding Reception

After the Wedding ceremony about 75 friends and relatives of the family met at the bride's home. The bridal decorations were carried out in the home with white carnations, white spider lillies and green ferns. A bride's cake was cut and served with green punch. Misses Emma Lee Burnett and Catherine Woodum, served at the punch bowl.

After the reception the bride changed her wedding dress for a navy blue ensemble suit with matching accessories. After a few days trip they will go to Austin where they will make their home.

Mother of the bride was in a graceful gown of rust crepe and wore a turban of black velvet. The mother of the bridegroom was dressed in a pretty frock of wine velvet with close fitting hat. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

The many beautiful wedding gifts were admired by guests, among whom were out of town: Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Mueller and son R. G. Mueller, Jr., and daughter, Miss Frances Mueller, Jewell Moore, Evelyn Parker, Frances Fisher, Mrs. T. A. Brison, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Palmer, Miss Mary Richey and Wayne Porter, all of Austin; Mr. and Mrs. J. Stricker, Jr. of Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Crawford and little daughter, Gail, of College Station; Mrs. G. L. Moore and Miss La Verne Moore of Rosebud.

Laxative combination folks know is trustworthy

The confidence thousands of parents have in good, old reliable, powdered Thedford's Black-Draught has prompted them to get the new Syrup of Black-Draught for their children. The grown folks stick to the powdered Black-Draught; the youngsters probably will prefer it when they outgrow their childish love of sweets. Mrs. C. W. Adams, of Murray, Ky., writes: "I have used Thedford's Black-Draught (powder) about thirteen years, taking it for biliousness. Black-Draught acts well and I am always pleased with the results. I wanted a good, reliable laxative for my children. I have found Syrup of Black-Draught to be just that."

LAURENCE APEL DIES IN GERMANY HOME

Laurence Apel, 74, died on August 30 at the ancestral home in Liene Fielde, Germany.

Rev. Geo. Apel, pastor of St. Monica's Church, a brother, received notice last week of his brother's death more than a week before. For 34 years he lived with Father Apel in Texas and will be remembered by many in Cameron. He lived at the Parish home with his brother, the Priest at St. Monica's.

In June 1934 when Father Apel went to Germany to visit his native country, his brother and wife made the trip also. They remained in their native little city to spend their days in the surroundings they knew before they left for the new world.

Rev. Apel returned to America some months later. The deceased is survived by his widow who is an invalid. With the death of his brother, Father Apel is the last surviving member of his family. The Father was visably touched by news of the death of his brother. He is now engaged in building a new school for St. Anthony in Cameron.

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

CAMERON-TEXAS

We are taking this method of advising the general public throughout the territory covered by this paper that the First Christian Church of Cameron, Texas, has launched a campaign for one week beginning Monday, September 16th for the purpose of securing needed contributions toward our building fund to enable us to complete our church building which has only been a basement since we lost our original building by fire a few years past. This basement church is a serious handicap to our church work in this community due to our crowd and inadequate room to house both Sunday School and church services.

We are therefore earnestly pleading with every individual who will, to make us a contribution in any amount they may feel that they are able to give to this cause, and in whatever amount this will be, whether large or small, we wish to express in advance our sincere appreciation for it, and want you to know that watever amount it may be, that your contribution was a large part in making possible a very serious and needed improvement in our church work in this community.

We also want you to know that in the event you may not be in a position to make us a contribution in money for the further promotion of our work for Christ in this community, we then more earnestly invite you to come to any or all of our church services at any time opportunity may afford, and remember our motto is never a stranger in our church but once.

If you be one who wish to help us in our undertaking, please fill in the following coupon and mail or hand to us for any amount. We shall be very grateful to you for any amount—even a dime. Remember the words of our Master regarding the widow's mite. This was small in quantity, but, according to our Master, was mighty great in the main thing, quality:

There's lots of room in the FORD V-8

EVERY ONE who steps into the Ford V-8 for the first time is surprised at its roominess. There's exceptional seat room, leg room and head room in all body types — the whole car gives you a feeling of substantial size.

The Ford gives you extra body room because of the compact design of the V-8 engine — an exclusive Ford feature at a low price. This V-8 engine takes up less space in the hood and permits more of the car's length to be used for passenger comfort. Many a car selling at a higher price does not give you as much interior room as the Ford V-8.

Rear seats are wide and restful . . . three people can ride comfortably in the front seat of the Fordor Sedan, Fordor Touring Sedan, Convertible Sedan and Phaeton, and in the Coupes and Roadster. The seat of the Ford V-8 Roadster is 52 inches wide. A ride in the Ford V-8 will show that it combines unusual body room with fine-car performance, safety and comfort.

Yoemen Chant

EDITORIAL

The Yoeman Chant makes its first appearance of the year on only 12 hours notice. This year the paper is published by a newly organized press club with Miss Margaret Bloebaum who is a new addition to our faculty, as our sponsor. Under her leadership we hope to publish a paper that will not only hold your interest, but will also furnish information concerning the activities of Yoe High and Ada Henderson. May we equal the record of last year's Chant and if possible improve upon it.

HIGH SCHOOL ENROLLMENT 453

Yoe High has made a good start this year with an enrollment of 453. The others are: Marlow 15, Marek 15, Belmena 12, Watts Switch 12, Elm Ridge 11, Branchville 7, Clarkson 7, Buckholts 6, Ad Hall 5, Ben Arnold 5, Yarrellton 5, North Elm 4, Walkers' Creek 4, Briary 3, Jones Prairie 2, Maysfield 2, South Elm 2, Burlington 1, Bryant Station 1, Fairview 1, Gause 1, Milano 1, Minerva 1, Sharp 1.

Later they will present one act plays. We are looking forward to their 3-act plays, also.

PRESS CLUB NOTES

At a meeting Monday afternoon September 16, temporary organization of a Press Club, with Miss Margaret Bloebaum as sponsor, was effected.

The work of the club is to be a weekly publication in the Cameron Herald of the school page, The Yoemen Chant, and the permanent staff, to be organized in the enar future, hopes to produce a school paper which will record and preserve for the students of Yoe High school and of the Ada Henderson school the events of their school life and to supply the patrons and parents with interesting information concerning the activities of school life.

The High School staff will be assisted by a junior staff of the Ada Henderson school, to be appointed at a later date. Those on the high school staff are Dorothy Welch, Harold Heath, Neill Rylander and Bob Nabours.

New Goodrich Silvertown Gives BLOW-OUT PROTECTION at Today's High Speeds

Maybe you've never had a blow-out. We hope you haven't. But if you want to know how serious blow-outs can be, just ask a man who's had one. And because blow-outs are so dangerous, the Life-Saver Golden Ply has been developed by Goodrich engineers to prevent them before they start. This amazing invention resists internal heat—the terrific heat inside the tire that is the great unseen cause of high-speed blow-outs.

Anti-skid Tread

Why not equip your car with a set of Goodrich Safety Silvertowns—the only tires in the world with the Life-Saver Golden Ply? You and your family will be three times safer from these blow-outs. And you'll be protected from dangerous "tail-spin" skids, too.

Just press your hand on the deep-grooved, extra-thick Safety Silvertown tread. You'll feel the big, husky cleat grip and easily understand why these tires give maximum protection against skidding.

And the Safety Silvertown tread is so rugged that you get months more mileage at no extra cost.

I'D RATHER FIGHT ANY MAN ALIVE THAN HAVE ANOTHER Blow-out

Says JIMMIE McLARNIN
Welter-Weight Champion

"No punch ever hit me as unexpectedly as that blow-out I had a couple of years ago . . . A punch may knock you out, sure—but it takes only one blow-out to finish you off. So now I'm playing safe—I have Goodrich Safety Silvertowns on all four wheels."

Our Town

nations are standing by while little Ethiopia is ravaged by great Italy," and she wonders why "in the name of humanity, cannot Italy be stopped." Along this same line the Negro Baptist of the United States deplored Italy's action and a speaker called upon the United States government "to use its influence to prevent this war and help Ethiopia." Again, quite recently, the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom inaugurated a campaign to secure fifty million signatures to a "people's mandate to governments" to end war.

It is easy to be in complete sympathy with the aims of these and others that have taken similar action, either in specific cases of warfare or in the general effort to advance the welfare of international peace. The problem, however, is much greater than stirring up a sentiment for peace, because its solution depends upon willingness on the part of people everywhere to remedy the cause of international unrest which inevitably lead to warfare.

In an effort to make clearer what we mean, we call attention to a recent statement by Miss Pearl S. Buck, well known author, who prefaced her remarks by saying that people are sick of war and denying that the world is at tune to the war spirit. She insisted, however, that war is again probable, not through ignorance of its terror and futility, but because "life is for too many people even more terrible than war." She contends that the next war will be "an escape" for these people, and suggests that "organizations for peace must begin their work in the very bowels of life. They must study the depressed classes." Pointing how to avoid war, she insists that this is to be accomplished by making "life better so that its security will be too precious to lose," and by remedying the cause "for such despair in life as makes people willing for war."

Along the same line comes an expression from the pen of Colonel Edward M. House, former close advisor to President Wilson. In a recent article in Liberty Magazine, he declares that Great Britain, France, Russia and the United States, the four powers now possessing the world, must receive Italy, Germany and Japan on terms adjusted to present world conditions, and see that they are given thei rproper part of colonial resources.

Some years ago Premier Mussolini said that Italy must expand or explode. The same comment has been made repeatedly of Japan, and for years Germany insisted that she must have her place in the sun. If there is any truth to the contention of these three Nations, and there must be some justification of their attitudes, it immediately becomes apparent that the natons interested in maintaining world peace must be willing to permit them to enjoy a fuller share of the world's bounty. The people of the world must study the question of peace seriously. It involves much more than a wish for peace.

Science on the Farm

With upwards of a thousand suits in the courts the constitutionality of government regulation of agriculture, some dolorous prophets are predicting that the farming industry soon will lapse into its former bad practice of reducing its income by producing too much. But the recent convention of the American Soy Bean Association at Purdue University prompted the hope that agriculture soon might be finding new outlets for crops raised.

Due to extensive scientific research, the soy bean has come into prominence recently. Originally imported from Asia, this bean is showing marvelous versatility in its usefulness to mankind. Like other beans it is a good food and may be processed to yield a considerable variety of foodstuffs.

But at the convention the amazing possibility was discussed that the products of the soy bean might not only supply of food on the table, but might become the material of which is made the table itself and the chairs and other furniture of the dining room and perhaps quite considerable part of the house.

Such an adaption of a simple garden vegetable stimulates the imagination to ask what might result when the scientists have like success in developing the possibilities of other plants grown from the farm.

And what will be the result when furnishing the raw materials for manufacturing becomes more profitable to the farmers than growing foodstuffs? Perhaps then it may be necessary to have government regulation to compel production of what the nation needs to eat.

Be Yourself

The price of autumn and fall is the end of summer. In exchange for the calm and ordered and moderate days, the sedate and mature days of September and October we must give up the boisterous and vacationing and carefree days of June, July and August. It is a trade which will appeal to persons who like weather they can depend upon, who gladly give up the strenuous and irresponsible days of the summer for the dignity of a less tempermental season.

We have had rain and wind and fog and chill reminiscent of early spring or late fall. It leads us to offer this advice to September: Be yourself. Be not like April, weeping one moment, laughing the next. Be not like November or March, with chill winds blowing and cold rains falling, but be September, with the beginning of these golden days which alone compensate for the loss of summer and the prospect of the coming winter.

The Dollar is the JACK of all trades.

DIVERSIFIED farming, rotation of crops and dairying are the magnates which draw the elusive dollar to the farm—where it belongs.

Most of our farmers understand this—they know their business. Others are waiting for a ship to come in that they didn't send out.

As in every other business cash is the best "buy-word"—thus diversification.

Louisa's Letter

BROTHER'S GIRL PROBLEM—WHAT ABOUT GOOD TIMES

Dear Louisa:

My brother is crazy about a girl and thinks that she is fine and sweet but I know different. Her younger sister is my age and I go over to their house a lot. She is spoiled and disagreeable and all her family thinks she is selfish. I believe if my brother could stay over there for a few days he would change his mind. He is a fine fellow and I hate to see him throw himself away on such a girl. I don't know what to do because he just laughs at me and teases me about being jealous of my future sister in law if I try to set him straight.

WORRIED SISTER.

Answer:

It is hard to try to manage other peoples lives for them and usually a very thankless task. If this girl is as selfish and mean as you say she is why not arrange a little house party and include your brother and his friend? Be sure not to have things too comfortable and let everyone have a share in helping. A summer shack somewhere usually brings out the best or worst in people.

But a boy in love usually believes what he wants to believe, and if his adored should show any undesirable qualities he probably will think it is someone else's fault.

Women whom other women see through so plainly, seem to find it easy to hoodwink men.

However, the best test of affection I know is that of living in the same house with people for a few weeks.

Perhaps if you try this you may discover that she is not as selfish as you thought she was. Be sure that you are not judging her through the prejudiced eyes of her younger sister.

Dear Louisa:

I make a good salary but I spend about all of it and so I have a good time! My sisters think I am foolish because I am not saving my money but I tell them I will have a better time with my memories of good times than they will looking at their dollars in the bank when we grow old. Don't you agree with me?

J. L. P.

Answer:

Well, J. L. P., I am a great believer in moderation. For instance, if when you grow old, you become dependent on your relatives or some relief organization, I don't think that your memories of good times will compensate for the bad experiences you will be compelled to undergo then. On the other hand, I think you would be very foolish to pinch and save for a rainy day and deny yourself of all pleasures now for the sake of an uncertain future.

Why not put aside a certain amount each month in the bank or in insurance and then continue your good times on what you have left?

LOUISA.

Pensions May Cost Texas Fifty Six Millions

"Old age pensions could cost Texas tax payers as much as $56,073,402 yearly if each of the 283,199 people 65 years of age and over received the full $15 monthly allotment provided for in the recent Constitutional Amendment," State Auditor Orville Carpenter said today.

At the request of Governor Allred, Carpenter and R. B. Anderson, State Tax Commissioner, prepared the report "Cost and Generad Plan for Old Age Pensions." Upon the Governor's suggestion it was mailed to members of the Legislature September 10.

"Experience of other states has shown that they have attempted at first to take care of only those acquirements made of applicants have tually in need of assistance. Rebeen with a view of eliminating those who, although of eligible age, did not actually need assistance. In this way other states have greatly reduced the costs for the amonut necessary to pay if all persons of the required age had been included," Carpenter said.

"As there are 41,787 persons 65 years of age and over on the Texas Relief Rolls, this apparently is the minimum number able to qualify for old age pensions. At $15 a month and with 10 per cent administrative cost added, this would be $8,273,826 yearly," Carpenter said.

Carpenter believed the figure 62,933 most nearly represented the actual number who probably would receive old age pensions in Texas. He determined this figure by considering the experiences of other states. If 62,933 people in Texas 65 years of age and over were to receive the full $15 a month the yearly cost cost to the tax payer would be $12,460,734, Carpenter circulated. In this he included 10 per cent administrative expenses.

"The Federal Government, if funds are available will provide an amount equal to that spent by the state plus 5 per cent for expenses. This depends upon approval of the Texas plan by the Social Security Board in Washington. The Texas Legislature will formulate a plan for distribution, and it will decide whether or not the full $15 maximum will be used," Carpenter concluded.

Soil Saving To Feature County Fair in City

A special exhibit showing all phases of soil erosion prevention and giving startling facts that will stress the dire need for saving the soil will be sent to Cameron for the Milam County Fair October 10 to 12 by Dr. H. V. Geib, regional director, Soil Conservation Service, Temple. This exhibit was prepared especially for the Dallas State Fair and other larger fairs and is being sent to Cameron by Mr. Geib who hopes that it will be of some educational value.

The huge exhibit will show all phases of soil saving work including terraces, spillway dams, strip crops, contour furows, soil saving dams, and arrangement of cropping systems that give best results. The display will be trucked to Cameron and erected by workers in the soil erosion service at Temple, Mr. Geib reports.

Special permission was secured from H. H. Williamson, extension service leader, to allow the exhibit to be brought to Cameron and Miss Bertha Fae Strange and Mr. George Banzhaf secured permission for bringing it here.

Farmers are especially urged to attend the fair and see this exhibit. A man will be in charge to explain the various phases of soil saving work, E. D. Parnell, general chairman of the Fair, reports. The Fair management feels fortunate in getting this exhibit and all who may be interested are urged to see it at the Fair in Wilson-Ledbetter Park October 10 to 12.

Ann Arbor, Mich.—A study of the creative work of 1264 famous persons by Prof. Harvey Lehman of Ohio University shows most men reach their creative peak at the age of 35, and that while the volume falls off in subsequent years the work itself seldom stops.

State Pecan Show For County Fair

Farmers and others interested in the development of pecan orchards, the propagation of pecans, and other information relating to that enterprise will be glad to learn that the state pecan exhibit will be brought to Cameron for the Milam County Fair that is to be held October 10 to 12.

J. T. Kelly, pecan specialist of the state department, will be in charge of the exhibit. He will come to Cameron early in the week and will supervise the erection of stands for his exhibit at the Wilson-Ledbetter park, he reports.

"Tell your pecan men that I am coming to Milam county to help them with their pecan problems," Mr. Kelly told E. D. Parnell, general chairman of the Fair, in a conversation Thursday in Flatonia. Mr. Kelly will be glad to make trips out to pecan orchards and confer with owners in regard to their special problems. Those wanting him should get in touch with Parnell or with W. F. Paden, Chamber of Commerce secretary and make appointments.

The pecan exhibit that Mr. Kelly is Bringing to Cameron is strictly educational in nature. It includes quart samples of all leading pecan varieties, model budding and grafting tools and equipment, samples of good grafts and buds, and charts showing various steps in the top-working of native pecans. A series of mounts show the insects that damage pecans and information will be furnished by Mr. Kelly for their control.

"We are bringing the pecan exhibit to Cameron at a special sacrifice," W. D. Sims, pecan specialist in charge at Austin, wrote. The exhibit had been booked temporarily at a smaller Fair, but since Cameron had never had the exhibit it was felt that it should be sent here this fall, in preference to the smaller fair that had it a number of times.

Many Times

Not The Child's Fault

Just a few more days and school will open. If your child failed last year, don't be too severe in your criticism, till you know for sure if his eyes are functining properly.

Should he need glasses and you fail to supply them, then the responsibility rests on your head and not on the child's. Have his eyes examined and if glasses are needed, he will be told so, and if glasses are not needed he will be told so.

Give your child a fair chance this year. You owe them that much. To fail in a grade means a year lost, besides, the embarassment to the child and family.

The Dollar is the JACK of all trades.

DIVERSIFIED farming, rotation of crops and dairying are the magnates which draw the elusive dollar to the farm—where it belongs.

Most of our farmers understand this—they know their business. Others are waiting for a ship to come in that they didn't send out.

As in every other business cash is the best "buy-word"—thus diversification.

UNDER THE COURT HOUSE DOME

By Bernice Mc Lerran

Discontinuation of watermelon eating on the court house lawn was ordered by the Commissioners' Court a few days ago. "Better late than never"—at least the Commissioners should not have any trouble enforcing this order, being that the watermelon season is practically over. Just hope the watermelon eaters will remember this order next year.

"Me no speaka de English," won't get you by in the Milam county if you speak Mexican only. Joe Bass, city alderman, can speak this language as fluently as any Mexican, and he has been used in the courts here and on the grad jury as an interpretor several times. Bass interpreted last week in Justice court for the officers who were trying Lupe Garcia for stealing a case of beer from a licensed wholesaler of this city. The Mexican was fined.

Just a tip to the City officials Sometime ago, a citizen noticed the petrified rock pillar at the Wilson-Ledbetter park with the names of the city anministrators inscribed. He remarked that the name of Mrs. Lizzie Wilson was not inscribed there and wondered "where she came in." After all, Mrs. Wilson gave the 30 acre tract of land for the park.

County officials here are awaiting with anxiety what action the legislature on the fee and salary of county officers. Officials of the court house here feel that if all the county and precinct officers of Milam county were placed on a salary basis that it will not prove to be of any financial assistance to this county. Milam county officials on a salary basis now are the treasurer, court reporter, auditor and commissioners. The county judge is on a salary and fee basis. Those on the fee basis are the sheriff, county clerk, district clerk, tax assessor and collector, prosecuting attorney, justices of peace and constables. The district judge and county school superintendent are on salary basis, but they are classed as state officers.

There comes another rumor that a woman is going to run in the 1936 campaign on the sympathy plea. That's nothing unusual in Milam county. A sympathy plea campaign is alright if the candidate is mentally capable of holding the job. When the voters of this county put a person in office just because they feel sorry for him and ignore the fact that the candidate is mentally incapable, they are doing their county and themselves an injustice.

Public Health Nurse Takes Up Work Here

Mrs. Pearl Fulcrod of Waco, county health nurse for Milam county, has arrived and will have offices in the Court House.

With her mother, Miss Fulcrod will live in the Rose Rischar apartments in the old Lankford Hotel.

For several years efforts have been made to obtain a health nurse for the county. This work will begin at once.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wolf of Lawton, Oklahoma, are visiting Mr. Wolf's mother, Mrs. Agnes Wolf, in this city. Mrs. Agnes Wolf will observe her 90th birthday in October.

Cardui stimulates the appetite and improves digestion, helping women to get more strength from the food they eat. As nourishment is improved, strength is built up, certain functional pains go away and women praise Cardui for helping them back to good health. . . . Mrs. C. E. Ratliff, of Hinton, W. LOUD SPEAKER WOULD AID FANS AT GAMES

A system of micraphones with a central loud speaker near the press box of the proposed new stands for the Yoemen field, will be used for the convenience and entertainment of patrons at the games in the coming season, if plans now afoot mature.

According to plans the equipment would be used to call plays and keep the fans informed by giving the name of the player and the play together with the yardage gained or lost and all other details necessary to the layman's enjoyment of the great American sport.

There is not certainty that seats would be erected this year as planned in the government project, but some plan will be found to make the field comfortable and the loud speaker will add much to the enjoyment of the game.

Besides the garden products, Mrs. Marak has canned 188 containers of fruit, fruit juices, jams and jellies. A total of 801 containers, valued at $273.38 were exhibited on the 40 feet of pantry shelving at the Marak home, at the Club's annual Home Demonstration Achievement events.

26,253 quarts of fruit and vegetables have been added to the pantry shelves of the Home Demonstration club members during the months of May, June, July and August. From this quantity reports show:

Washington News For Milam County Farmers

From Cameron Herald's Washington Bureau

FARM SURPLUS GROWS.

WHAT FAMILIES PAY.

FARMERS ARE ALERT.

CODDLING THE HOUSEWIFE.

According to reports gathered by the Department of Commerce farmers turned a big operating loss in 1932 into substantial gains last year. In fact, the improvement in the financial position of agriculturists has been particularly encouraging.

While the cash income of farmers fell from $10,417,000,000 in 1929 to $4,377,000,000 in 1932, the income jumped up to $6,267,000,000 in 1934.

Significance attaches to other figures gathered by officials showing that the total operating expenditures of farmers in 1929 was $3,289,000,000 but that in 1934 it was only $1,744,000,000. Moreover, interest charges, taxes and other expenses have been reduced.

Figuring it out by their own system, the officials estimate that the available cash for spending in 1929 was $4,890 000,000 and in 1932 only $1,472,000,000. Last year it was up to $3,257,000,000, and will probably be higher in 1935.

Just what the processing taxes mean to the average American family of four persons is shown by the latest Treasury report revealing that the taxes on agricultural products, if shared equally will represent a contribution of $16.00 on the part of each family.

During the past year about a half billion dollars was collected for the purpose of paying benefits to farmers in an effort to restore farm purchasing power to its 1909-1913 level. A table printed in the United States News shows the distribution of the average family's contribution to this effort as follows: Bread, $3.77; cotton textiles, $2.95; tobacco, $1.09; corn cereals, 21c; ham and pork, $5.62; paper and jute products, 9c; sugar $2.16; peas 11c.

These figures, of course, will be used extensively to argue against the assistance being extended to American farmers. Critics will not hesitate to point out the added strain on the lean family purse. Advocates will insist that if such taxes are necessary to restore farm prosperity the amount paid by each family will be justified because national prosperity depends upon a reasonable prosperity of our farmers.

Some idea of farm sensitivencss may be seen in the recent exchange betweenf ormer Republican Governor Clyde M. Reed of Kansas and Col. Frank Knox, a leading figure in the Republican presidential nomination contest. Because the Chicago publisher, in a statement declared that it cost $1.80 today to buy the same necessities that cost $1.00 at the grocer three years ago, Governor Reed objected on the ground that this implied a return to farm prices of 1932, and asserted that this was to be the Republican position the party "may as well surrender the farm states before the campaign opens.

In reply Col. Knox spoke of the imperatice necessity to restore farm purchasing power, which he did not think could be achieved by a "policy of scarcity" and said that ne did not regard the processing tax as a correct method. Instead, he looked to expanded world trade and the "swift progress" of chemistry in utilizing raw materials for industry to solve the problem but inasmuch as these were long-range remedies it would be necessary as a temporary measure to take whatever steps that are necessary to insure to the farmer the full enjoyment of his domestic market on terms entirely equal to those enjoyed by tariff protected industries, and said "this means some form of export bounty."

Metropolitan newspapers continue to scream about the rising cost of meat, pointing out that 75 pounds of pork and 150 pounds of beef—the average annual consumption for each family—now take more of the family budget.

The port that cost $18.22 in 1933 now costs $32.95. Beef that cost $31.86 now costs $44.84. The so-called average family is therefore paying $27.71 per year more for pork and beef in 1935 than in 1933 or about 53 cents more per week.

There is no government control of beef, but the hog processing tax of 2.25 cents a pound evidences the control program.

The metropolitan newspapers and urban politicians are trying to gain favor with consumers and housewives by denouncing the increased prices for meat. They seem perfectly willing for hog and cattle growers to get low prices and their championship of the housewife's budgetry problems they become the enemy of the welfare of the farmers and the families that grow the stuff that feeds the people of the nation.

MILANO SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 16

All the white schools of the Milano Independent School District of Milam County opened their doors for the coming school term on Monday, September 16. Parents are urged to equip their children and have them rady to enter school at the beginning and to make an effort to keep them in regular attendance until the very last day. Our schools are for the mental growth of our children, so let us, as teachers and parents, work hand in hand to see that they reap the greatest possible benefits from the investments that we are putting into our schools.

The Milano schools are fortunate in having one of best trained corps of teachers for the comng school term in Milam county. In three years time we have pulled up from one degree to eleven degrees in our faculty. This year we can boast of two master degrees, Mrs. Covey having received her master degree from the state University at its August graduation. We shall have none teaching in the high school without a degree and no one teaching in any of our schools who has less than two years of college work. Some say that teachers are born, not made, but no one can deny that the born teacher plus training makes an agreeable combination. The writer believes in Milano, its progress and its evident future, and, with the continued cooperation of its teachers, pupils and good patrons, we shall come out in the end with a school second to none in this surrounding country.

Bob Covey, Supt.

HEFLEY-DOSSETT, INSURANCE

TRUE DETECTIVE STORY by Vance Wynn © Public Ledger

The Bed That Was Not Occupied

SOME years ago Lemuel R. Boyce, an officer on the St. Louis police force, was murdered while trying to arrest a burglar.

He was very popular among his associates, and there was an almost universal desire to find the man who had committed the deed and to give him the full penalty of the law.

But the difficulty was to get a clue upon which to hinge their investigations.

It was learned that a number of colored men had been seen in the vicinity of the hotel where the officer was shot, but there was nothing to connect them with the crime.

Chief of Police Smith determined to comb the city in order to locate the known colored criminals.

The job was well done, but it did not bring very practical results. Just about that time the chief learned that one of the men who had been seen loitering in the vicinity of Cardinal street on the night of the murder had been sent to the Missouri reformatory a week later on some minor charge.

He called upon the mother of the suspect and questioned her regarding his movements for the previous month.

She admitted that he was wayward, but was positive that he could not have been the murderer of Policeman Boyce.

She was cross-examined, and as a result of that it was found that Frank White—for that was his name—had not slept at home on the night of March 31.

This was extremely important because that was the night the officer was shot.

In addition to ascertaining this bit of information, the chief of police also came away with a bunch of pawn tickets.

One of them called for a revolver.

The officer called on the pawnbroker and obtained the weapon.

It was taken to headquarters, and it was found to be the caliber revolver with which Policeman Boyce had been shot.

The proof of this was discovered by means of the bullet that had been taken from the wound.

Thus armed, the chief of police was in a position to confront the suspected man.

He took the train for Boonville and arrived at the reformatory late at night.

In order to make doubly sure he took the mother of White with him. The superintendent was perfectly willing to have White interviewed, but thought it might be postponed until the next morning. Chief Smith did not agree with him.

On the contrary, he said there were several reasons why the meeting should take place that night.

One of them was that the suspect would be confronted unexpectedly and without opportunity of manufacturing an alibi.

He was roused from a solid slumber and brought into the waiting room.

By previous arrangement, the mother had been placed in an adjoining room.

White was surprised when confronted by the detective—but he was also silent.

He positively denied all knowledge of the Boyce murder and said that he was sleepy and wanted to go back to bed.

"Where did you spend the night of March 31?" asked Chief Smith suddenly.

"At home in my bed—just where I should have spent it."

"But you did not sleep at home that night," replied the detective in his most positive manner.

"How do you know that?" he asked, still tauntingly.

For reply his inquisitor opened a little window in the room and pointed to an adjoining apartment, where sat the mother of the accused man.

Her unexpected presence shook his nerve.

What had she said to the police?

How much of the truth had she revealed?

He was troubled and in the end admitted that his bed had not been occupied that night.

A minute later, when confronted by the revolver which had been retrieved from the pawnshop, he broke down and confessed that he had killed Officer Boyce.
